

The System Engineer

A system engineer uses different people, components and actions together to solve a particular problem.

